WR: "Well this is it" Said Walmington Rovers Boss Steve Farnden ahead of his side's crucial final match of the season to Southern Cross Prophets. "After a long hard season our fate lies in our own hands. Its simple. We win we stay up. Let's not contemplate anything else. In a last ditch effort to retain Premiership status I have gambled on bringing in Quads and Brash. Two quality players that give us an added skill point. But of course, good additions come at a cost and losing Simon, Nics and Nein is a bitter pill to swallow. But I thank them sincerely for their efforts at this club." He continued " I wanted the deal completed by Wednesday to give the new boys a full days training in order to meet the playing staff and feel the ambition at the club. They have fitted in well and like the rest of the team are ready to go to work and get the much needed win we need." In closing Farnden added, "I would like to thank our marvellous supporters for sticking with us this season and know we will have a full house at Kaikoura Park on Friday cheering us on to victory. Let's get the win they deserve."

BSO: LAST WEEK~ scores were tied at 1 at the stunningly imaginatively named Melbourne stadium, Southern Cross Stadium ~TRANSFERS~ The man Pearso was contacted about his ledge Brazil Def Iasa and a deal was concluded with young Rusky Feo going to newly formed Whitechapel with any Ripper references to the new club name flatly denied, Dealing King Adamski offered two old never beens, but still considered worth a run out by the BSO Bossman, for a promising welsh YL introduction ~THIS WEEK~ Lucky Burton brings his Champs to the Hole for hopefully a result that will keep both teams up, but with the tightness of the league, its on a knife edge who will survive ~TEAM SELECTION~ "I can't take no prisoners" muttered Gaffa Croasy "The starting men have got to deliver the result that is right for this club, no one else" - Brazilian centre half Iasa takes to the defence as Zezu Baptista or Bonilla Ancizar take a strikers berth to force a 3 goal bonus point home win ~PREVIOUS MEETINGS~ Last season BSO 3-4 EE, EE 2-1 BSO .... a 7 point haul for LB .... The 1st massively anticipated rematch against last season's table toppers ELA Elementals (Ela ela, eh eh eh) came on Boxing Day - Just one goal difference separated the teams last season, as they finished level on points, despite BSO taking a 3 point advantage into the last week of the season - Gaffa Croasy knows that tiny gap was wholly created by results against Lucky B's Coventry outfit - A 2-1 away defeat and home reverse 3-4, gave ELA a double over the Funky Bunch and MM knows that 7-1 point haul must be overturned this season to get the better of Burty - No major high skill point difference in last seasons meetings were apparent as indeed they were tied at 6 in BSO's only home NGE defeat. This season the Boxing Day match up week 11 ELA 1-1 BSO saw Decheiveler being suspended and now carrying an injury for this game, so it seems he never wants to step up to the Mark when BSO are in town .... HSP 11 to 6 in the home teams favour ~INTERNATIONALLY~ The BSO talisman from the start of season one, Jaimenacho Mendiguchia, rightfully lines up in the World Cup Final ~YOUTH LEAGUE~ The 10/04/09 games are eagerly anticipated as Elihu Gwilym, Sandino Siachoque and Yevgeniy Khodorkovsky all have serious training schedules to complete before the upcoming fixture ~MANAGER QUOTE~ "We consistently played the most skill points all season and find ourselves in the relegation zone ! - i'm being punished for winning something in the 1st two seasons !" barked suga Daddy Croasy - "same again next season lads ?? :)" guffawed the cheeky housewives favourite funster from Blackburn ~AND FINALLY~ .... In the 1st season without Nito Cruso introductions at any stage Marky Mark, never a darling of the agent, took time out to sign, not one, but two Cruso stars .... indeed the same Cruso he got gifted in the infamous 2nd batch and then later sold on, a player by the name of Saburi Watamura, a decent Jap midfielder with only 3 starts collecting a respectable 7.00 average for what is still a young player ....
EE: ~LAST WEEK~ A 3-3 draw was a satisfactory result against Bambino boys who now look nailed on for the title. Burton was hoping for a win but deep down he knows it wasn't a bad result. However than one point 'dropped' may make all the difference. ~TRANSFERS~ Burton has been undecided whether to stick or twist in the market this week with the injury of Dechevillier. The main man midfield Dynamo is in the shop window but Burton wont be held to ransom or coaxed into selling his other star players and it looks likely he will stay with Elementals. This however does leave Elementals light on skill points. One piece of transfer activity has seen Delaunay join the club. Burton has admired this player for a while and was happy to sign him which saw Fintyre, Herve, and Orlando go in the other direction. ~THIS WEEK~ D-DAY has arrived. Burton is away to BSO with a massive skill point deficit. A defeat looks nailed on and Burton is not looking forward to the prospect on Division 1 football; although Burton is hoping for a high scoring game to get some points on the board. A draw is the best Burton can really hope for which would ensure BSO stay below them in the table. ~INTERNATIONALS~ Torres will play for Spain in the A international and De Quejo should make the bench for Mexico. ~AND FINALLY~ To summarise its been a poor season for Elementals, to many dropped points due to poor discipline has cost us, how dearly will be known Friday afternoon.

BW: The biggest game of the season for both clubs could potentially see Widows relegated and Hearts crowned champions, or it could leave the sides loitering with intent towards the top of the table rueing what could have been. The Widows have nothing up their sleeves for this one: the team is so threadbare that the weakest possible Widows side would only be 3 skill points down on the strongest. Spencer Hart decided early - mostly necessitated by the injury to Kazyhiro Kubota - to go with 5-2-3, a formation that has served the side well over the last few seasons. He hopes that with the experience of his defence and current form of Vidal Barrio-Lomas the Hearts attack might at least have to break into a sweat to get a result, but with poor form from his bigger defenders and Hearts peaking at the right time, it won't make comfortable viewing for the Widows faithful. The promising Jacky Gale, who Hart feels could develop into a big name in E1, slots into the rearguard. Up front, Hart drew attention to his key striking pair, Pueblo Sasi and Gioacchino Quagliacica. The former has become the standard name to drop when debating the merits of older high skill players within the game - meanwhile the player has chugged away quietly and hopes to line up for Spain in the World Cup final on Monday. The last Widows player in appear in a final was Qualiacica (who netted a hat-trick), who Hearts themselves flogged to Widows all those years ago. What price on the Quagmeister postponing Henfo's first inevitable NGE Prem crown for another season?
CH: No away win all season, a 4-3 reverse at home to Widows in week 11, which saw Hearts lose their unbeaten home record, everything points to another disappointing away day.....doesn't it? Hearts know that only a 4 point win will secure the title as Bambino are odds on to beat Whitecaps at home & with a vastly superior goal difference Hearts have to finish above them on points. "Being top of the table with 1 week to go means nothing, its what counts after the 22nd game that matters." Manager Stu Henfrey stated in the pre match press conference. he went on to add "This season was more about building for next but the team has just matured quicker than i expected but i still believe the title is in Bambino's hands given the circumstances of this week's games.". Odds on a 2-1 Hearts win & a 4-3 Bambino win to give the Bigman the title on goal difference?!!

GH: TEAM NEWS: Wolters makes one change to the side that lost at Darwin Disciples last week, with Alejandro Cesar Silva returning to the starting line up after serving a two match ban. LAST WEEK: Manager Rik Wolters was left fuming after the Hearts conceded a last minute goal to go down to defeat at Darwin Disciples. The manager was said to be pleased, though, with youngster Con Lafferty's brace which had looked like earning the team a point. TRANSFER NEWS: The club have turned down an offer for Asin Offondo. The American midfielder has indicated that he wishes to remain at Gorgie Road for the foreseeable future. Naioki Ito, however, has made it clear that he intends to leave the club during the close season. EM: --LAST WEEK A shock win over the Nuke Boys, 4-3 at home, attackers in the starting line up scoring a goal apiece. The win moves the Mythicals up to second in one of the coveted Promotion places, but, and a big BUT, the Mythicals are away this week.--THIS WEEK-- Away to the Boyz up North, with a trip to Gorgie Road. A draw could see us promoted or just miss out as it is that close in Division 1. Our first away win of the season, would guarantee promotion. While on the a defeat, though unlikely, could see the Mythicals make an immediate return to Division 2 --LAST MEETING-- Week 11 saw the Mythicals turn over the Gorgie Hearts 5-4 at home. Much has changed since then, with only three of the starting XI still at the Azizba Dome--INS AND OUTS-- No changes to the squad have been made this week, and it is expected that unless a silly offer is made, all of the current squad will be starting the season at the Dome next season.--INTERNATIONALS-- With the B team Final being played this week, three of the Mythicals players may be on opposite sides of the fence to one another. Keeper Zander and defensive team mate Delani are hoping to make the team for the South Africans, while B team American regular, Wulf will be hoping to upset them and tease them all afternoon with his goal scoring prowess--AND FINALLY The team will be saying farewell to the travelling supporters at the end of the game, before they all disappear on their end of season breaks--

AK: It's the last game of the season as A.F.C try to stay in division 2, as top scorers in the division maybe that extra point might make or break the team, Jason will remain upbeat and hopes that some star players will remain regardless of what happens. ☹️

SEASON FOUR

Season Three has now completed its league fixtures and we just have the EFA Cup Final and World Cup Final which will be played on Monday. I hope you all enjoyed this season and I know so many of you are itching to get Season Four under way. The website will change a little after the end of season reset on Thursday and after that it will be all systems go.

Many thanks to those who have already sent payment for the new season, it is much appreciated. Those of yet to pay, please remember to do during the next week. A couple of managers are leaving this week and I would like to wish them all the best for the future and to extend a "you will be welcome back anytime" message to them. Finally thanks to you all for helping to make the game fun to run, it really does help when things are running well and people are happy. Richard.
