RETIRALS / TRANSFER LIST CHANGES

Following some discussions on the Forum, I have a proposal in place to address the issues surrounding the lack of constructive activity of the Transfer List. I plan to introduce the changes this week if people are in general agreement. As with every tweak to the game it is only for the good of the games and as always it will affect people, but this is clearly an issue and I think the vast majority will want to loopholes fixing.

The changes in summary will be:

1. The monies received for retiring a player for cash will be slashed to 10% of their current value £250,000.
2. Players once listed on the Transfer List cannot be removed.
3. The Transfer List will still be processed during the playing of the turn, but any unsold players stay on the list with their asking price reduced by 25%.
4. Any players not sold after 3 weeks will be sold to non league for a minimal value based on their skill and WACS.

Burton was delighted with the performance and massively surprised to upset one of the title favourites away from home. Burton hopes this form can continue which has seen 4 of the last 5 league games won. ~TRANSFERS~ Burton splashed out this week to increase his skill points tally. Out went Crocifissa, McQuilken, Juarez, Aizawa and Espiridion and in came Bartholomeus, Tiggsson and Ichi. ~THIS WEEK~ Another stern test; this time in the form of Mr Einnek himself. A win could see Elementals go top but knows another sparkling performance is required to take all 3 points. Burton instructed his team to wear two pairs of shin pads for the game as Bambino were likely to take the physical approach! A high scoring affair is also predicted! ~INTERNATIONALS~ Kirremuir will play for Scotland, Colas for France and Katomaatu for Australia ~PREDICTIONS LEAGUE~ After a cheeky £60 win at the bookies last weekend Burton is hopeful of a high score to put him into a reasonably high league

Subs: Niklas Sjögren 7, Tomoyuki Sakai 6, Ephraim Prebendal 6, Christofer Cederschöld -. BW: LAST WEEK - A very disappointing and surprising away defeat derailed a brief spell of form during which the Widows won TWO whole games (albeit one a kickaround down the local park with OPA) to leave them anchored to the sweatiest, dankest depths of the Prem moshpit. 'All' the team has to do this week is overcome Celtic Hearts, who come into the game dragging their knuckles like a wounded animal on the back of a defeat themselves and are without the services of ex-Wid and key defender Arquimides Zulo, who fell foul to that most Soddish of Einnekian laws last week by getting his marching orders immediately prior to a vital game for Argentina. TRANSFER NEWS: Spencer Hart had a handful of deals in negotiation throughout the week, but was frustrated to be left on the back-burner while teams attempted to clarify other deals as a priority - which could lead to a change in transfer policy in the weeks ahead at the Iron Web ... 'BID NOW, PAY NOW!'. The inactivity means that Kayll Devonald, Pinto de Moreira and Joaquim Da Silva all get a stay of execution this week, but the trio's poor attitude in training after having their heads turned by mega-rich rivals keeps them in the shop window. The only signing of the week was Kibby Ravn-Nissen, the only Sammy Bull offering purchased during the week at the time of writing during a bleak spell for the player agents. CH: Just for Uncle Fair deal ;) Following their 1st home defeat of the season, 1-2 at the hands of ELA, manager Stu Henfrey has conceded that he just doesn't have the strength in squad to mount a serious title challenge. We had Schia out injured last week & he was a big loss & this & next week we have Zulo banned & whilst i rate the younger guys coming in, they are just not of the same calibre. With that in mind Stu Henfrey immediately went into the transfer market & sold Joseph Ghaleb, Zander Lund, Orpheus Bittercreek, Eldon Wrath, Isak Vilhelm & in return got.....Edgar Van Den Brun, a back up keeper & Oscar La Flecha, an untried defender! Several discussions with various managers failed to come to anything, with Stu Henfrey refusing to be held to ransom over Zulo's current ban. 'The deals on offer were ok for a quick fix but in the long term it's just not worth it' said Stu Henfrey on rejecting a few offers. 'Zulo is only out for 2 matches & will then be back for the run in, which is the most important thing, besides we only have Black Widows & Black Star whilst he's out!!' he said with tongue firmly in cheek! 3 young new faces have been brought in to try & bolster Hearts squad this week, Welsh defender Ephraim Prebendal from this weeks opposition Widows, Swedish midfielder Niklas Sjögren & Japanese attacker Tomoyuki Sakai from the youth side(interesting to note 'no Hat' introduced a Japanese attacker following his arrival on the big stage, another copying tactic!?).

Reuben Gouwe returns to the side at the expense of forward Willem Knijnenburg. LAST WEEK: The Hearts came from behind to claim a much needed victory. Gornal Ship put in a fine performance and was rewarded with the equalising goal. Goal machine Con Lafferty scored a second winner to take his season tally to 14 goals. TRANSFER NEWS: The Hearts have signed South African midfielder Soloza Prettyleg from Celtic Hearts for a fee of 1.5m. Manager Rik Wolters believes Prettyleg is a bargain at such a cheap price and hopes he can comfortably settle in to the Hearts squad. The club have once again turned down offers for fellow South Africans Reuben Gouwe and Lumumba Vawda with the boss stating they were "too important to the club at this moment in time". INTERNATIONALS: Shensuke Miura picked up another cap last week but was unable to prevent Japan from being eliminated from this season's World Cup. The same could be said for defender Milo Stradling picked up another cap as Wales were eliminated. Asin Offondo made an appearance off the bench as USA beat Argentina to qualify for the quarter finals.
