Morale Changes

The final rules will be posted tomorrow on the blog and forum. Thanks to those of you who passed comment and helped in the formation of the changes. They will come into effect from the start of next season, so please start to get your thoughts about morale clear as I really would like not to have discussions on this when things take effect.

Stadium Options

Despite this being an area so many complain or comment on, I did not get any emails and no one posted on the forum about this. I presume you are all not bothered?

Have a good weekend,
Richard.

CH: Hearts welcome juicy josie's Babies to the Arena this week looking to complete their first league double, having beaten them 2-1 earlier in the season. They are also going for their 4th win on the bounce in the space of 13 weeks against Bambino having beaten them on the final day of last season. Bambino are the leagues highest goals corers & they have the worst defence so fans are hopeful of a goal feast, although Hearts are one of the lowest scorers & have one of the meanest defensives & are yet to score 3 goals or more in a league game this season. They did however manage 3 goals for the first time in a match this season in last week's friendly win over Cotton Wanderers. New signing Marcello Parma goes straight into the defence while a late decision will be made on the final spot & formation. In the youth league Hearts recorded their first win over ELA with new boys Archibald Gilbraith & Rafael Quesada made in immediate impression. They travel to Stoneleigh Baybears this week again hopeful of a win with 3 more new signings Haviland Kihstedt, Valery Zvyagin & Rodrigo Edgardo in the starting line up. | | | | | | |

| BW: A fascinating contest is geared up this week at the Iron Web as the Trojans gallop into town. While Big Spennnda has been playing down talk of his Widows making a quick return to the Prem, Monsieur Page has been gunning for short-term deals to give his side the best chance of promotion this time round - as such Mr Hart views them as a cert for the top two and dangerous opposition today ... TEAM NEWS: After resting the big guns last time out it's back to full strength today. After all the blood, tears and web tomfoolery in comes Marklund Hyman for his full debut after being installed as no.1 following the departure of Redding Fairfax, protected by a tasty back four of Kiah, Sinis, McEwan and Mbiakop. The evergreen Americo Soto bosses the midfield as he winds his glittering career down flanked by Osias while an in-form strike force of Schiaparelli, Villanueva, Freemunda and Dale should pose a few problems for the Trojan rearguard (whenever I say something like that they fail to find the back of the net so I've done it now!!!). YOUTH TEAM: Kihlstedt and Greencloud were moved on this week with only Isherwood coming in. Undoubtedly there will be the weekly introduction after the game and possibly a promotion with the manager looking for an extra senior squad player or three. | | | | | | | |

| WLW: The day has arrived for Warriors biggest game of the season so far against rivals Walmington Rovers!Warriors have made the Rovers team and fans feel at home by repainting the away changing room and changing the seats to their favourite colour of pink but refused their request of having Christopher Biggins as their mascot!!Warriors are without the injured Kirriemuir for the game and with Rovers bringing in some top players manager Welton expects a tough game but expects to complete the double over the Jersey Queens!! | | | | | | | |
| WR: Rovers Boss Steve Farnden was clearly relishing the prospect of taking his side to league leader and fierce rivals West Leigh Warriors this Friday. "It's top .v. bottom. The league table does not lie and we have a massive task ahead of us if we are to get something from this grudge match." Said Farnden "Richie is a good friend and has assembled a top side and deserves promotion. But we owe them one following a 2-3 home defeat earlier in the campaign." Farnden continued. We have been busy in the transfer market and have 4 quality debutants turning out for us. We feel we have a chance of an upset. Chunkster is now fit again and relishes playing against the Warriors. He's been like a caged tiger over recent weeks and is desperate to turn the clubs fortunes around and steer us to safety." "Welton and his "Worriers" had better be up for this battle. Because unlike many of the ladies of Portsmouth...we don't go down easily!!" Farnden quipped. | | | | | | | |

Subs: Simon Westall 6, Soloza Prettyleg 7, Porter Tavish 7, Niildo -. GH: TEAM NEWS: Manager Wolters has had to shuffle his pack following several team changes and the injury to Wasimara last week. Barichello is preferred to Niildo in goal, while new signing Oisije Wynk makes his debut in defence along with Ono who starts for the fourth time this season. A three man Hearts midfield sees Vildósola gain a rare start and Kujimata makes his debut up front. THIS WEEK: The Hearts travel to Rael Nerrad looking to kick start their promotion push. The Hearts were beaten by their high flying opponents in week two and will be looking to put that behind them by avoiding defeat this time around. LAST WEEK: Some slick finishing and poor defending helped the Hearts pick up a morale boosting 4-2 victory over IBK at Gorgie Road. Midfielder Leonardo Rocha returned with a bang as he created and scored with one of his trademark free kicks. TRANSFER NEWS: A busy week of dealing has seen several new faces arrive at Gorgie Road, and some more familiar ones leave. Forward Tokimochi Kujimata joins the club from Achillean Druids with Adolfo Crocifissa, Odgar Maddocks and Eldorado Tularosa all going the other way. A separate deal saw defender Oisije Wynk join the club from Celtic Hearts. Marcello Palma, Asin Offondo, Hawley Maclechrist and Babu Pochox all made their way down south as part of the deal. Other offers from Lafferty and Vawda have been turned down. YOUTH LEAGUE: The Hearts youngsters were on the receiving end of a 2-1 reversal last week against a well organised Calico Lawbreakers. | | | | | | |
