Morale Changes

The final version of the new rules relating to morale were published on the blog this morning. There were a couple of subtle changes following the last set of discussions. Please take the time to review the changes as they will be important from the start of next season. A copy of the blog post can be found later in this turn.

Pay Rises

In line with the general consensus relating to the morale discussion, pay rises will no longer give you a potential morale increase. Managers use this free option way too much for it to be realistic and because of this it has got a little silly. This change will take effect with immediate effect.

Stadium Options

Thanks to those of you who bothered to reply this week. I will draft some proposals this week for comment.

Have a good weekend and watch out for quick free-kicks,

Richard.

A very good it was to against former top of the league Bukigura. The only negative was the continued poor form of Ventura who has been putting in extra hours in the training pitch this week to improve him overall game. ~TRANSFERS~ Just the two this week. Phillip 'Not' Worth 'it' goes back to BSO lumps, apparently he was not used to a team actually playing football. Victor returned to his former club. Another deal saw veteran Soto join the club, this was at the expense of Santos and 3 youth players but he time at ELA will be well served. ~THIS WEEK~ Burton is hoping to do the treble over the pink brigade that is Bambino. Burton has turned them over twice this season at home but expects it to be a sterner test in their back yard. The challenges will surely be flying in this game and Burton will send his cloggers out onto the field on Friday to do the business. ~INTERNATIONALS~ Reardon and possibly Wragg will play for England ~YOUTH TEAM~ Fey, Squirrelheath and Da Silva all left the club which gives some of the lesser players at ELA a chance in the youth team.

Subs: Halburt Slipper 6, Pedr Ace 6, Tomás Karadagián 7, Víctor Manuel Forero -. EM: What a time to be playing the Trojans. Two stars out, one injured the other suspended. Could this help the Mythicals do the double over the Trojans. Previous meeting this season, at the Ruwi, the Mythicals ran out 3-1 victors, but much has changed since then, and this time the game is at the Mortem Arena, so the Trojans with home advantage, should put up a stiffer challenge this time round. Rumour around the Ruwi, is that the Youth boys are beginning to knock on the door of the first team, with Argie defender Aquaosis, being given his opportunity this week. With some sterling performances so far from the likes of Ansel Kearsarge, Evando Melgar and Dallas Goodblood, it may only be time before one of them gets the opportunity to see if they can cut the mustard and follow Didi "Waterboy" Aquaosis into the first team. The club also welcomes back Spanish Central Defender, Xabi Sepulveda. On his return, rumour has leaked that he is asking for the Captaincy of the club, a move he hopes will propelle him into the reckoning for his International Captaincy.

Subs: Loxley Davis 7, Kafil Mabuza 7, Chick Murdoch 0, Kelsey Godsmark -. BW: Big Spennda has today's match against Vinny's Sirocco Whitecaps down as a potential relegation battle as he anticipates both sides will finish towards the arse end of the table - victory for Widows and defeat for Whitecaps last week gives Mr Hart even more cause for concern. TRANSFERS: A frantic few nights of drunken dealing had the deals rolling in ... fresh off the back of parting with a promising England goalie in Redding Fairfax the gaffa brings in another in Kelsey Godsmark ... Anderson Da Silva and Glenn Calwallader bulk out the defence, although the latter has already been earmarked as chaff soon be jettisoned ... Cuthbeorht 'is he/isn't he' Hansard and Mordecai Gallowraven become the team's much weakened but promising midfield partnership ... up front Sinko Santos and Chick Murdoch are snapped up ... and finally, Spennda's original youth introductions Clancy Squirrelheath and Aldridge Fey, who've found a little form between them since leaving the club, find themselves back where they started while Pyotr Paradzhanov is also snapped up. TEAM NEWS: Only a few of the new faces can be accommodated today - Hansard, Gallowraven and Santos are named in the starting lineup, while last week's signing Joao Leonandro gets his first league start for the Widows. INTERNATIONALS: The manager is hoping for a selection crisis in the Cameroon ranks today to give veteran Jaylo Freemunda the merest glimpse of sneaking into contention and edging ever-closer to the 40-cap marker - but he concedes that he probably has a better chance of being on the next manned mission to Mars.

MORALE CHANGES

Here are the final morale changes which will come into effect at the start of next season.

The upper limit for morale will be increased to 30, this gives a new range of 1 (lowest) to 30 (highest). There will be more variation of morale based on things that effect your club – results, transfers, performances, wages, etc. The in-game code will take morale into account a lot more, so having a better morale than your opponents will give a lot more of an advantage than it does currently.

Managers will need to consider morale as an integral part of the game rather than the cosmetic thing it is now.

The “loophole” of giving player pay-rises will be removed. This will take effect this week.

A summary of events that will have a positive effect on morale:

- Winning league games
 - Any victory +2 morale.
 - Beating a side above you in the league would be worth an extra 1 or 2 morale depending on the difference in relative positions.
- Winning cup games and friendly challenges
 - Any cup victory +2 morale.
 - Any friendly challenge victory +1 morale.
- Drawing with teams above you in the league.
 - A draw against a side higher in the league would be worth 2 morale points.
 - A draw against a side lower in the league would be worth 1 morale point.
- Not losing away games.
 - Staying unbeaten in an away fixture increases morale by 1 point.
- Players performing well.
 - Each player getting a 9 rating increases morale by 1 point.
 - Getting Player of the Week is worth 2 morale points.

While events that will have a negative effect on morale are:

- Changing Captain
 - Loss of 5 morale points.
 - Captain not selected (for whatever reason) equals a temporary loss of 5 morale for that fixture.
- Losing league games
 - A loss to a team higher in the league results in a 1 morale point drop.
 - A loss to a team lower in the league sees a 2 point deduction.
- Losing cup games or friendly challenges
 - Being knocked out of the EFA Cup sees a 2 morale point drop.
 - Losing in a friendly challenge match will result in the loss of 1 morale point.
- Not winning at home.
 - Drawing at home loses 1 morale point.
 - Losing at home will see a 2 point morale drop.
- Numerous team or squad changes.
 - Making 6 or more changes to your starting 11 reduces morale by 1 point.
- Players performing badly.
 - Each player getting a 5 rating sees morale decrease by 2 points.
- Cautions/Players Sent-off
 - Any player sent off reduces morale by 2 points.
 - Four or more yellow cards in a game reduces morale by 1 point.
- Injuries
 - High skill player injured below 5 fitness reduces morale by 1 point.

End of Season Events

- Divisional Champions = +5 morale
- Promotion = +3 morale
- Relegation = -3 morale

The whole premise behind this change is to make morale mean something more than it does currently. There is scope with this system to add or remove factors which effect morale if and when required.

All sides will see their morale adjusted at the end of the season to a range between 8 and 15 based on a sliding scale of their morale at season’s end.
