

EINNEK NEWS

Welcome to this week's turn. Many of you have taken the time to comment of the proposed Team of the Week and statistics for the Youth League. I can confirm I will introduce this from next week. However, there will be no skill 6s coming out of the Youth League even though a few people have asked. Ultimately the YL is a place for you to try out new players and see if they are ready for the "big-time", it is not a place where teams can develop readymade skill 6s.

Have a good weekend,
Richard.

Subs: Lucien Davion 6, Ippei Akiba 7, Kanu Lake 6, Washington Ron -. BW: Big Spennda has earmarked today's match as another potential relegation battle, with the manager predicting both Widows and Walmington Rovers will be looking nervously over their shoulders ... TEAM NEWS: Marklund Hyman, Jarrah Kiah and Piero Schiaparelli all return after the friendly fixture with the gaffer relieved to be able to name a full-strength team with the exception of suspended Santiago Villanueva - who is rumoured to have played his last game in Einnek football. TRANSERS: A frustratingly quiet week with only one bid coming in for the legend Kaja Sinis, who Spencer Hart is more than happy, if a little surprised, to be able to name today. The manager does have his eye on a bigish swoop that could explain the omissions of Cuthbeorht Hansard and Chick Murdoch from his team, leaving for a very weak midfield in Kafil Mabuza and Noe Quesada. 'Strengthening the midfield has to be the priority, both in numbers and in quality,' the manager said, pointing out the bleedin obvious. 'Sammy Bull saw enough in those players to snap them up but they need to show us all now!' Of his potential transfer swoop, the manager kept his cards to his chest other than to say that his target was a defender and that four agent players had been rested today to minimise risk of injury or suspension. YOUTH LEAGUE: With relegation impossible and promotion unlikely, it looks like another quick fire so-so season comes to an end today, notable only for the unearthing of Marklund Hyman and Starbuck Dale who have since moved onto the senior team with vastly differing outcomes. It's not possible to see where the next gem is going to come from, with Aldridge Fey and Purdie Rascale looking most likely. The manager would welcome any inspired performances from his midfielders today as there is a vacancy at senior level!
