

EINNEK NEWS

Youth League News

Today sees the first turn of the new Youth League. Those of you who love to read your turn on a Friday afternoon will be pleased to know that this week's late turn will be a one-off as I tried my best to make sure all the processes for the youth games were working correctly. Thankfully everything looks good, but there may well be the odd issue, so please email if you have an queries.

The major difference in the Youth League relates to the way players change skill after a game. To jog your memories, please remember winning does not guarantee a player increasing in skill, nor does losing mean you may drop a skill point. Increases and decreases in player skill are based on performances, so you could win and see a player go down if they individually were poor during the game. This reflects the fact that the game is for younger players who will have their ups and downs as they adjust to a career in Einnek Football.

Einnek Blog / Rule Book

As I have been working hard to play test the Youth League, I have not posted on the Blog this week, but rest assured some more pearls of wisdom are on their way... as are the next batch of the re-written rules.

Have a good weekend,
Richard.

Two players were sent off for Veleno who gifted Elementals the points in the last 30 minutes when two of their players lost their heads, especially Chubb who two footed Tamarama in the 67th minute and the referee delivered a straight red! Tamarama bravely carried onto the end of the game but the damage had already been done and he will be out action for 2 weeks ~TRANSFERS~ A couple of youth team changes before the start of youth league this week. In comes Fay and Rochambrik and out when Mlangana ~THIS WEEK~ Elementals travel to top of the table Southern Cross Prophets; they have had a great start to the season but Burton feels he can still get something from this game. Prediction 1-1 ~INTERNATIONALS~ Nothing this week ~AND FINALLY~ The dutch legend that is Got Ten Possibles decided to join Elementals. BSO were heavily pursuing this prestigious talent but the calibre of the manager at Elementals made up his mind :-p   |   |                    |     |        |        |       |                |

| GH: TEAM NEWS: Gornal Ship is included after being dropped to the bench last week. The South African striker told reporters he intends to up his game so he can play a part in the Hearts promotion push. LAST WEEK: Manager Wolters was left fuming after poor defending cost the Hearts as they lost 1-2 to Ditton Shooters. Once again a poor showing from the Hearts' strikers was at the centre of the problems. YOUTH LEAGUE: There's plenty of expectation around Gorgie as the Hearts' youth team get ready to play their first 11-a-side game against Stu Henfrey's Celtic Hearts. |           |                    |      |        |        |       |                 |
| FIU: Farmers Boss Steve Farnden feels today's trip to Gorgie Hearts could kick start his sides season. "We have not found the consistency I am wanting yet. We have played well but our league position is disappointing" He continued "It is early days and the squad is upbeat, believing we will be a top 3 side come the end of the campaign. This is a tough game away but we feel we are more than capable of returning with a much need win !!".   |           |                    |      |        |        |       |                 |
