Youth League Questions

In the absence of the complete rule book on-line, I have been asked a couple of questions which although mentioned before, I thought it worth re-iterating here. Firstly, the maximum skill for a youth player is skill 5. Should a youth player gain b international man of the match, they will automatically become a senior skill 6. Number two; if a side's best performing player is already a skill 5 the skill point award is not transferred down to the next best player.

Finally, a third point relating to the International Ratings for youth players. A code error accidentally gave skill 5 youth players incorrect IR ratings two weeks ago. While nobody commented on the sudden increase when the error occurred, I did a few e-mails asking why IR had dropped when I fixed the error. While youth players can get capped at B level, it is not intended that these trialist players who be able to obtain selection for a b international ahead of an eligible player playing for a senior club.

Rule Book

Speaking of the rules. Some more pages have made their way on to the blog site this week, with more to follow in the forthcoming days. I have targeted the end of the year as a target to have everything completed.

Morale Changes

The discussions relating to morale and its effects on the game are progressing well. I hope to reach a decision soon on what is practical to implement that addresses the areas managers have suggested. If you have anything to add to the discussion please visit the blog and have your say. If you do not contribute then you cannot moan later if you do not like something.

Finally, thanks to all who have sent birthday wishes to me this week. Much appreciated even if my new wacs maximum is now very small.

Enjoy the weekend,
Richard.

EE: ~LAST WEEK~ Burton played a 3-2-5 and packed the forward line with quality and they over ran FC Leithen running out 3-1 winners; Burtn reserved special praise for Wragg who bagged himself a hat trick and the match ball so set up a tricky away fixture to Calico Lawbreakers in the 2nd round. ~TRANSFERS~ Burton secured the signing of veteran defender Dagfinn Emil which saw the on form striker Pero go the other way, however the deal included 3 young skill 5's, 2 of whom will go straight into the youth team for today's game. It certainly beefs up the options available to Burton on match day this week. ~THIS WEEK~ The under soil heating will be turned up full blast this week as Eskimo Henf comes to town. Burton was potentially going to play kamikaze 3-2-5 again but the deal mentioned earlier sees a more familiar line up on 4-2-4. Burton always expects a win at home and this week is no different although he knows his players will need to be all on their games if this is to happen! Burton expects a cold reception from Henf's bunch of ice sellers in what should be fiercely fought game ~INTERNATIONALS~ Wolfstone, Blade and Wragg should all feature for England. Bombak should also play for Argentina B team ~YOUTH TEAM~ Another defeat last week bu some positive performances. The youth team has been beefed up but GTP will get another chance to shine. Olde Seven Boys are the opposition and Burton knows these are the types o games he needs to win if he doesn't want to finish bottom of the pile in the youth league ~AND FINALLY~ Geerd Ten Paepke was seen driving around in a tank firing snickers chocolate bars at people earlier in the week shouting "meet my friend paaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaain" - Has the boy lost it?

BW: A week full of possibilities for Black Widows on the international scene today - likely starters for their respective outfits are Redding Fairfax, Americo Soto and Joaquim Da Silva, while Justo Pastor Páez is drafted in on the off chance of some Argie 'B'argie - one of three 'also ran' Argie def's fighting for their futures at the club. Whilst continuing to express his clear delight and surprise at Fairfax holding onto his first team berth, it is da Silva the manager has his eye on. How well the Brazilian hotshot fairs today could have a huge impact on the way the club shapes up for the rest of the season. TEAM NEWS: Along with Páez only one other change for the trip to Dixieland today - a debut for Scottish youngster Eogan Druim, signed for a £2m snip from Druids. With two defeats on the bounce, the manager is expecting Deliverance to deliver a bit more today and is therefore looking to take whatever he can from the game. YOUTH TEAM: Another pleasing result last week with a pleasing performance to match from Starbuck Dale who takes his goal tally to three. A conversely poor outing from Heron keeper Marklund Hyman (and a drop in skill) failed to prevent the youngster from making the Swedish senior international bench after the three players ahead of him failed to get minutes last week.

LAST WEEK: Despite the loss to Third Division Yellowknife Industries, manager Wolters was said to be pleased by the performances of some of the players - particularly that of captain Alejandro Cesar Silva. Wolters believes that Silva is the perfect role model for some of the team's more inexperienced players. YOUTH LEAGUE: The Hearts Youths picked up a second win of the season last week, easing past ELA Elementals 4-2. The performances of forward Michel Quiniou have been particularly pleasing for the men in maroon. His three goals in two games have led to enquiries from several managers as to the Frenchman's availability. The club have stated that he is not for sale.
